The aim of the Hospital Education Reintegration Service is to ensure that children and young people, who cannot attend mainstream school because of health needs, are able to access good quality education.

The service will work with schools to help them understand their responsibilities for and best practice in supporting children with medical needs. This should ensure that the support offered from the home school is as effective as possible, reducing the need to refer to HERS.

Should a referral to the service be necessary, the school and service will work in close partnership in the best interests of the student and to facilitate successful reintegration as soon as possible. The HERS is not viewed as a preferable long term alternative to mainstream education provision.

This procurement process is being undertaken under the Light Touch Regime and therefore applies the flexibilities afforded under regulation 76 of the Public Contracts Regulations 2015.
