The programmes can be delivered either with support or the user can do them alone are approximately 2-3 hours long (if completing by yourself).

The platform has been developed in-house along with a live time management reporting system that sits behind the front end programmes, which can provide individualised post programme reports for each service user, as well as being able to be aggregate the impact of a cohort of service users for commissioners of services. The Intellectual Property Rights for both the platform and programmes are held by Intervention Consultancy Limited.

It is considered that the service to be delivered (a digital multi-diversionary activity rehabilitation platform) can only realistically be undertaken "...by a particular economic operator [i.e. The Red Snapper Group)]...where competition is absent for technical reasons..." as per (Art 32 (2) (b) (ii) of Public Contracts Regulations 2015) as 'The Innovation Hub', due to the breadth of rehabilitative activities accessible through the platform, is considered to be technically unique and could not be delivered via bespoke development of software within the budgetary and timescale constraints of the project.
