Provider Forum

The purpose of this session is to help us understand how services can be commissioned in a way that puts the family/people who use the service at the centre of the process. It will be an online workshop for providers and commissioners of services.

We will create a thinking space to really explore what needs to change to enable services to be commissioned in a way that supports providers to work collaboratively to ensure families/ people who use services are at the centre of the process.

You will be given a structure that will give you time to think about what is preventing this from happening now. The contributions that you make will be taken away and used to inform the commissioning process.

Please register your interest in attending these events using the links found in the document attached to the notice in Proactis.
