This project forms part of the Hull: Yorkshires Maritime City Project.

The Hull Maritime Project is a GBP 30 million development of four sites and two historic ships, which will celebrate Hull's maritime heritage.

The project is jointly funded by the National Lottery Heritage Fund and Hull City Council and will see the complete physical refurbishment of the Hull Maritime Museum (HMM) followed by a complete redisplay of the cities maritime Collection.

Other elements of the project are:

- the refurbishment of Dock Office Chambers (DOC), which will provide storage for the reserve Collection;
- the development of the North End Shipyard, construction of a purpose-built visitor orientation building and the permanent dry docking of the Arctic Corsair, the last deep-water sidewinder trawler;
- the refurbishment of the Spurn Light Vessel;
- a GBP 2 million community, education and outreach programme.

The refurbishment of the Maritime Museum will require the removal of the Museum's display and reserve Collections. The collection of circa 50 000 objects range from the international significant collection of scrimshaw, to large industrial objects.

The specific purpose of this tender exercise is to appoint a supplier to provide the key service for the project of packing, transportation, storage and return of the HMM Collections.

The reserve collection (currently located in the basement and second floor of the HMM).

- The reserve collection which will be stored until the completion of the refurbishment works to the DOC building and will then be transported from the supplier's storage facility to the DOC building.
- The supplier shall return the reserve collection in single batch to the DOC building during January 2022.

The display collection (currently located on the ground and first floor of the Maritime Museum).
