Description

The Cardiff Capital Region Growth and Competitiveness Commission report, prepared in 2016 and led by Professor Greg Clarke, set out a framework for economic growth within the £1.2bn CCR City Deal, recommending key priorities such as improved transport connectivity (like the South Wales Metro), increased collaboration between councils, and investment in skills and affordable housing. The purpose of the review will help recognise the achievements of CCR over the last 10-years, whilst making improvements and enhancements where necessary, leveraging the experience of the last 10-years of activity in an evolving regional context within the UK and further afield.
