II.2.4) Description of the procurement

Hertfordshire County Council (hereinafter referred to as the 'Council') is seeking to procure a resilient, futureproofed mobilising solution to the Fire Control Collaboration which enables Fire and Rescue services to provide a high-quality response individually and collectively to incidents protecting lives and property. This solution should also be responsive to emerging technologies and act as a driver to continued service improvement.

BackgroundThe Fire Control Collaboration (F C C) is a partnership of two Fire and Rescue Services (Hertfordshire and Norfolk) which has been established to deliver a technologically advanced and resilient control room function across the partner services and provide the opportunity for efficiencies. There are currently two member organisations:- Hertfordshire Fire and Rescue Service – covers the full county of Hertfordshire. The Service Headquarters is located in Hertford whilst the Training Fire Control Centre is located in Stevenage. It is administered by a Fire Authority which is an internal part of Hertfordshire County Council.- Norfolk Fire and Rescue Service – falls under Norfolk County Council and covers the full county of Norfolk with a Headquarters in Wymondham

The Partnership currently functions as follows:-

- A common technical and communications infrastructure, (including supporting software solutions)- A common rationalised mobilising system architecture split over two resilient data centres, utilising a single mobilising system, supporting the two Fire and Rescue Services (FRS)- Fall-back/remote buddying/resilience arrangements- A Control Room mobilising capability within each FRS to support Service specific 'in-scope' activity and command support- An enabling framework for common Control Room operating procedures and ways of working to support future mobilising and in-scope activity collaboration - An enabling framework for opportunities for future convergence of operational practices and 'back office' applications.
