Description
NHS England seeks to commission board and SIRO cybersecurity training for NHS boards and Execs.
All providers must have a valid NCSC certification, ensuring high quality training delivery. Please see details below.
<https://www.ncsc.gov.uk/information/certified-training>
The Cyber Operations function provides a portfolio of training services to the wider health and care system to support cyber resilience. We have two of these services needing to be reprocured which targets executives, namely Board and SIRO training.

The SIRO specific training is for the critical roles of the SIRO and Deputy SIRO of NHS organisations. This training will help build essential knowledge, understanding and capability for these key leadership roles to build cyber resilience, and foster a positive culture to support effective clinical, financial and patient-centred outcomes.
The Board Training is for members who are part of the executive board and supports them in understanding the cyber landscape, their role in leadership and governance, and compliance with key legislation.

The contract will be for 1 year, with the option to extend for a further year, subject need and available budget.
