II.2.4) Description of the procurement

General waste, also called residual waste, is material from businesses and households that cannot be recycled.

It includes materials such as non-recyclable plastics, polythene, some packaging and kitchen scraps.

Historically, this waste has invariably been disposed of in landfill sites and general waste is still disposed of this way. However, advances in technology now mean that there are several alternative ways of dealing with general waste, which can ensure that value – usually in the form of energy – is recovered from it.

As well as household waste recycling centres, suppliers would also be required to assist with the management of Closed Landfill Sites as well as other infrastructure. Skills for this will include but not limited to civil, mechanical and electrical waste related.

We require suppliers to provide customers/participating authorities with general waste and recycling services ensuring minimal waste is sent to landfill sites.

Tenderers must have the capability to provide a wide range of general waste and recycling services, both scheduled and/or ad-hoc for schools and the wider public sector including, but not limited to:

II.2.4) Description of the procurement

Clinical waste is defined as hazardous waste that is generated by the healthcare sector. Clinical waste is highly regulated to prevent harm to human health and the environment.

A hazardous waste consignment note (HWCN) is a document that details the transfer of hazardous waste from one person to another. The hazardous waste transfer note forms part of the waste duty of care. A note is needed for all movement of hazardous waste, including:

- collection from businesses by registered waste carriers;
- movements from one premises to another within the same business;
- movements from customer premises, where another business has produced waste.

You must ensure every load of hazardous waste you receive or pass to others is covered by a HWCN. Asbestos waste from a domestic premise requires that the homeowner receives a HWCN.

Hazardous waste notes ensure that there is a clear audit trail from when the waste is produced until it is disposed of. You must keep copies of all your waste transfer notes (including HWCNs) for a least three years and must be able to produce them on demand.

We require suppliers to provide customers/participating authorities with a clinical, chemical, asbestos, hazardous and radioactive waste services ensuring all waste is disposed of according to Government Legislation.

- waste to be stored correctly i.e. it must be properly contained;
