II.1.4) Short description

The Corn Exchange is a grade II listed building in the heart of Witney, providing a social and creative resource for the people of Witney and visitors. It was built by the private Corn

Exchange Company in 1863, replacing a 16th Century building used in the 1850s as a corn returns office. From the outset it was used for social events and meetings as well as corn dealings and housed several clubs and societies. The main hall currently has no permanently installed technical theatre systems or seating so the proposal is install these systems to enable the venue to be utilised by local theatre and music groups and small scale touring productions. This specification is for the supply and installation of specialist theatre systems to include production lighting.
