The Information Commissioner's office is the UK's independent public authority responsible for overseeing and enforcing legislation including under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA) and The Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003 (PECR). Our regulatory activity includes issuing fines by way of penalty notices as set out in section 155 of the DPA. Monetary penalties for the most serious contraventions of the DPA can be issued for up to 4% of global turnover. For breaches of the PECR penalties are currently restricted to a maximum of £500,000.

The Information Commissioners Office intention is to create a panel consisting of up to seven insolvency practitioner firms to provide sufficient capacity and capability to meet the Commissioners anticipated requirements over a 4 year period.

The panel will be split into two lots.

Up to five of the chosen insolvency practitioner firms will be licensed to practice in England & Wales and will make up Lot 1.

Up to two of the chosen insolvency practitioner firms will be licensed to practice in Scotland and will make up Lot 2.
