II.1.4) Short description

The Office for Zero Emission Vehicles (OZEV) is seeking a design team to develop an iconic, functional public electric vehicle (EV) chargepoint. Throughout the process, the design team will work with us and other key stakeholders, such as chargepoint operators. Our aim is for the design to be a guide for local authorities and companies who wish to use it. As the chargepoint rollout continues to accelerate, there is potential for this design to become a piece of iconic British street furniture. The project will generate excitement of our chargepoint rollout ambitions and contribute to a sector wide conversation on good chargepoint design.
