Description

This service is designed to support people experiencing rough sleeping who have recently left Home Office accommodation or have become homeless following family reunification. Its core purpose is to help individuals exit rough sleeping as quickly as possible and move into appropriate accommodation, ensuring that rough sleeping is brief, non-recurrent and does not become entrenched. The service will provide targeted outreach support, offering clear, consistent and culturally sensitive information and guidance. Support will focus on helping individuals understand and access suitable accommodation options across a range of tenures, addressing barriers such as misinformation, lack of understanding of housing pathways, or cultural and language needs.
