II.1.4) Short description

Thames Valley Police and Hampshire Constabulary are looking to replace our current Lv1 frontline digital forensic extraction kiosks with an up to date forensic mobile device examination tool. This tool will be used to facilitate the recovery of digital data from mobile devices to provide evidential results and intelligence data for volume offences, and early actionable intelligence for serious and major crime. We require static terminals and portable devices.

There is also a requirement that a networked solution is obtained with an ability to remotely monitor and manage the terminals themselves to provide support to both forces moving towards accreditation under ISO 17025 and/or 17020. These systems should also be capable of integrating with a centralised data storage system as a future requirement to delivery.

II.1.5) Estimated total value

Value excluding VAT: £1,560,000
