II.1.4) Short description

The BBC tendered for the provision of a Live Stream Clipping Tool, which will provide editorial teams with the ability to create clips quickly from live video / audio streams and enable fast publication to BBC accounts across a number of social media platforms and other BBC destinations.

The BBC sought a solution that provides editorial teams with the ability to create clips quickly from live video/audio streams and enable fast publication to BBC accounts across a number of social media platforms, and other BBC destinations. The Service will be used across different BBC production groups, in particular for Sport, News and Events (for example, for Eurovision or Glastonbury). Usage will be driven by business demands; there will be a baseline requirement for the volume of hours and sources used for clipping and publication, with the need to scale up for planned large events or when responding to breaking, unplanned events. The Service must allow easy, quick, on-demand upscaling and downscaling according to business demand.
