Scope

Reference

GEL-HE-25372

Description

The services cover end-to-end management of biological samples, including receipt, verification and secure storage in controlled ultra-low temperature environments. Samples are processed through a range of laboratory workflows that include DNA and RNA extraction, quality control testing, normalisation, and preparation for downstream sequencing all delivered on a per-sample basis, there is no fixed maximum number of samples. Additional activities include aliquoting, pooling, reformatting into required labware, and arranging shipments to designated laboratories. Project-specific workflows may be developed to meet bespoke requirements.

Options

The right to additional purchases while the contract is valid.

The contract does not provide an automatic or unilateral right to make additional purchases; however, it does enable further services or increased volumes to be added through its formal Change Control procedure. Under the formal Change Control Procedure, any expansion of scope-such as additional processing, storage capacity, new workflows, or increased sample batching volumes-must be requested, assessed, and mutually agreed by both parties before becoming contractually binding. This mechanism allows the Authority to procure additional work when needed but only through a structured and approved variation to the existing services.
