II.1.4) Short description

The University of Strathclyde wishes to appoint partner(s) to assist with two forthcoming socio-economic research projects.

1. Action Learning:

We require a partner(s) to organise and carry out a sequence of action learning sets with public sector officials involved in the design and delivery of policies in two areas in Scotland: housing (either housing quality or homelessness) and employability (NOLB).

2. Peer researchers:

We require a partner(s) to facilitate and support a peer researcher process, working with two low income communities: young single men and families with young children. We require the organisation(s) to recruit and train peer researchers from these communities and support them to carry out a programme or research to inform understanding of the barriers and solutions of the intersection between low income and ill health.
