The UK has long been at the vanguard of standing up for the rights of women and girls around the world, through our development, diplomatic and legislative efforts, including the International Development (Gender Equality) Act 2014. This is not just good development, but also symbolises UK ideals, and is part of what we offer to the world.

FCDO will provide to the Supplier a determination as to the technical expert's employment status. The Framework Suppliers, as the worker's fee payer, will be responsible for deducting Tax and National Insurance contributions, paying these to HMRC, in line with the associated reporting requirements as detailed in:

<https://www.gov.uk/topic/business-tax/ir35>

Lead Suppliers are not eligible to Sub-contract on other bids for the Framework Agreement. If a Lead Supplier is identified as a sub-contractor on another bid for the Framework Agreement, FCDO will exclude the Bid submitted by the Lead Supplier from our evaluation.

The successful Lead Supplier will be determined by achieving the highest combined technical and commercial score in a Lot. Where a Lead Supplier has achieved the highest total score in more than one Lot, FCDO will award the Lead Supplier the Lot in which they have attained their highest score.

FCDO reserve the right to award more than one Lot to a Lead Supplier in exceptional circumstances where they are the only Lead Supplier to demonstrate sufficient capability against the published criteria, and meet the requirements set out in ITT Volume 2, Technical scoring and grounds for exclusion, page 11, after securing their first Lot award.

Lead Suppliers are not eligible to Sub-contract on other bids for the Framework Agreement. If a Lead Supplier is identified as a sub-contractor on another bid for the Framework Agreement, FCDO will exclude the Bid submitted by the Lead Supplier from our evaluation.

Subcontractors:

Subcontractors are eligible to participate in more than one bid for the Framework Agreement and across all 4 Lots. Sub-contractors can be successful on more than one Lot.
