Description

The NPWS is looking for a supplier to migrate, maintain and deliver future development of the existing website and content management system (CMS).

<https://www.oscarkilo.org.uk/>.

The website is an internet-based public portal for all police forces to access wellbeing services and other initiatives. Policing users can register an account, which gives them greater access to content and functionality.

Website features include the ability for end users to contribute and manage an organisational self-assessment tool, access wellbeing content, contact the team, request wellbeing vans for their force, book onto virtual events, complete e-learning, and wellbeing related surveys. It also offers search functionality and role-based access controls for end users. CMS users can create and manage these features
