II.2.4) Description of the procurement

BFMC is looking for an effective life extension programme which will allow the continued services of the Coastal Patrol Vessels while mitigating risk and minimising loss of operational availability. While extending a Coastal Patrol Vessel's service life by replacing obsolete, unsupportable or maintenance intensive systems, a Ship Life Extension Programme (SLEP) will be used to modernise and improve the operational ability of the vessel and those onboard.

This is a general market engagement event to understand the current supply market ability and capacity to meet this requirement.

Prior to expressing an interest to attend the market engagement event, please note the geographical limitation in the Main Site or place of performance. The SLEP activity is required to be performed in a UK shipyard. This reflects the need to minimise programme delivery risk associated with the ability of Border Force Officers (Vessel crew and the Maintenance and Logistics Unit) to oversee the work in the Shipyard and respond to emerging/urgent issues at short notice and without any additional challenge associated with work and travel related logistics. It will also reduce the risk associated with an In-Service vessel being required to return rapidly to service in event of a high priority operational tasking
