II.1.4) Short description

Talent, Leadership and Lifelong Learning, part of the People Directorate of NHSE are commencing a tender for the Provision of a Faculty Framework. The aim of this tender is to establish a faculty framework of experienced practitioners, able to demonstrate expertise which attunes to the needs of leaders in the health and public sector.

The practitioners will embrace the significant importance that leadership development has in the sustainability of our health and care system, and who demonstrate values that are congruent with the NHS Constitution. The work undertaken via this framework will significantly impact upon the health outcomes of the communities served, therefore social value will be an integral ethos to each organisation representing the NHS.

Through this procurement, NHSE are seeking to secure a diverse, highly skilled and agile faculty, that will comprise experts, with a broad range of knowledge, skills and practice in the field of leadership development; talent; equality, diversity and inclusion and research and evaluation.

The faculty will provide targeted support for the design, delivery and production of National, Regional and Local development programmes across England, including both in-person and digitally enabled developmental interventions and associated products.

The contract issued to providers will be zero value guaranteed. A separate advert will be released advising when the procurement is live for submissions, at which time all documentation in relation to this procurement will become available.

The commissioner reserves the right not to proceed with the Procurement, or any part thereto, or change the requirements and timescales as necessary at any time.
