[care\[1\]strategy-31-January-2023-final.pdf](#)). Improving access, reducing health inequalities, and facilitating choice has been given the highest weighting of 30% as reducing inequalities is one of the ICBs six key themes across all services that are commissioned across NEL. Quality and innovation encompass the four system priorities for NEL, so this has been given the next highest weighting of 25%. Value was given a weighting of 20%, as the ICB has a responsibility of ensuring value for money in all services that are commissioned. Integration, collaboration, and service sustainability were weighted at 15% as these are the foundations of the ICB intends to work as a system. Social Value was given a weighting of 10% to reflect the NHS commitment to Net Zero by 2045 and the system's priority to improve local employment and workforce. The provider was assessed on their performance of the key criteria so far and their ability to meet the needs of any future contract. Both current and future performance were given equal weighting for each of the key criteria.
