It is recognised that suppliers may wish to use existing subcontractors and as such it has not been deemed necessary to include the Sub-Contract Clause, which requires suppliers to advertise their subcontracting opportunities on Public Contracts Scotland.

Community benefits are included in this requirement. For more information see:

A summary of the expected community benefits has been provided as follows:

Community Benefits are a mandatory requirement of this contract. For each lot you are awarded, you are required to deliver a targeted recruitment and training initiative (one per lot). The Client's priority groups for the initiative are unemployed people and young people not in employment, education or training (e.g. school-leavers or graduates). The initiative you propose shall be one of the following:
