- Regain increased focus on admission avoidance as well as facilitating hospital transfers of care
- Reduce the intermediate care length of service through focussed intensive therapy approaches
- Simplify the pathway into and through the new integrated service model to provide the best possible experience for people and for professionals
- Simplify the pathway out of the new integrated service to ensure that people have the right ongoing care, support and connection to their communities
- Achieve the best outcomes for people within available resources.

The intention is to establish a partnership of interested stakeholders to commence the co-design of a new model through a Programme Board and events for stakeholders. The design and implementation of the new model will take place during 2022/23 with a view to the new model being operational from April 2023.
