Transport for London (TfL) will announce the launch of the tender for their brand licensing contract at the end of October. This notice intends to alert the market of the upcoming opportunity only.

- Transport for London is looking for companies to bid to become their next Brand Licensing and Development agency

- New licensing agency will build on this and further expand how Transport for London's iconic designs are used on branded consumer goods within the UK and Overseas territories

TfL's instantly recognisable map and roundels are known across the world for their simple and effective style with a long heritage dating back to the mid-1800s. The roundel is recognised across the world, seen as a symbol of London and the UK. The Underground map was first created in 1933 and paved the way for cities around the world to create similar maps to help travellers get around. The selected licensing partner will help TfL go further with their plans to bring London's iconic transport provider to the world with exciting brand partnerships and products.

TfL's creative assets also include the colourful moquettes which have decorated seats on buses and trains for many years, as well as the extensive poster and photo archive dating back to the early 20th century. The archive contains posters advertising travel to sporting events, tourist attractions and the much-loved art deco styles of the 1920s.

The tender will be issued via TfL's e-tendering system - ProContact. Please ensure that you are registered to be able to access tender documentation. Register here:
