Scope

Description

We are seeking expressions of interest from qualified and experienced contractors for the servicing of chemical dosing pumps used in phosphorus removal processes. These pumps, which dose iron-based chemicals, are configured in duty/standby arrangements to ensure operational reliability and compliance with environmental standards.

This early market engagement aims to identify capable providers who can deliver high-quality maintenance and servicing solutions for these critical systems. We welcome proposals that demonstrate technical expertise, relevant experience, and innovative approaches to service delivery.

If your organisation is interested in this opportunity, we invite you to get in touch and share your capabilities.
