Description

On a remote site in the North Pennines area of England

To carry out trial holes, to locate infrastructure, to allow others to finalise the property agreement.

To carry out a CCTV survey on a section of an existing raw water main to determine its suitability for trenchless rehabilitation as part of a proposed mine water rising main route.

This will involve carrying out enabling works and undertaking a CCTV survey on the existing raw water main.

The results will then be reviewed to determine the suitability of the existing raw water main for trenchless rehabilitation based on its condition and capacity.
