Description

The contract is for the supply of architectural design services to support the Bank of England (the Bank) in the consolidation and refurbishment of its Threadneedle Street Estate.

The Bank requires the provision of architectural design services across all Royal Institute of British Architects (RIBA) work stages. The supplier will need to adapt to the Bank's chosen delivery model (Traditional vs Design & Build) and deliver at all times recognising the Threadneedle Street building is an operational historically significant building and a secure environment.

The services included in the scope of this procurement include, but is not limited to:

- Design development and coordination
- Ensuring compliance with regulatory requirements
- Collaborating with internal and external stakeholders across design disciplines, and other procured services (e.g., MEP engineers, project management, etc) to successfully deliver
- Production of feasibility studies, technical drawings and documentation
- Provision of construction oversight

Service delivery will require a wide range of specialisms, including, but not limited to:

- Heritage Specialist Advice
- Listed Building Advice
- Planning Specialist Advice
- Principal Designer Obligations (CDM)
- Workplace Design (e.g. Office Floors / Meeting Rooms)

Further details in relation to the services (including delivery models and ways of working with the Bank) are set out in the Statement of Requirements provided as part of the associated tender documents.

The services will be supplied through a combination of on-site and off-site resources.

The Bank intends to (and reserves the right to) directly award additional or repeat services that are similar to the services supplied under the contract which is the subject matter of this Tender Notice, in accordance with Schedule 5, paragraph 8 of PA 2023.

Description of risks to contract performance

Given the age and historic nature of the Threadneedle Street site and the fact that the last renewals programme was undertaken in 1942, the Bank considers that the underlying condition of the building is unknown and such items will only be discoverable once the Services and/or construction works to the Threadneedle Street site commence. The precise consequences of any such discovery items and the impact on the provision of the Services including the level of resource or specialist resources required and consequences on the programme is unknown at this stage.
