attendance at school is vital for children's education, wellbeing, and long-term development. Improving attendance is priority. Support for pupils who are persistently absent was also the subject of a recent education select committee enquiry: Persistent absence and support for disadvantaged pupils - Committees - UK Parliament. The department is currently piloting a 3-year intensive mentoring programme in 5 priority education investment areas (PEIAs), delivering attendance mentoring support for pupil in areas with high levels of persistent absence. We are now looking into options to expand this pilot programme into more PEIAs. We are looking for a contractor that would recruit and train mentors to provide targeted 1 – 1 support for an identified pupil or their family to overcome barriers to attendance. This relationship would need to be responsive to the individuals needs, with the ultimate goal of specific pupil barriers and improving attendance. Mentors work intensively with pupils to support excellent attendance. We would be looking for a possibility to deliver an attendance support offer, initially for one year with the intention to extend to three years (total). The pilot would work in around ten identified priority education investment areas (PEIAs). We expect around 3,600 pupils to be supported by mentors each year. More information on PEIAs can be found here. We would need a supplier to support vulnerable children and families in each of the identified PEIAs to improve attendance. Through this work we aim to enhance capacity for early help/intervention, by working with pupils who are persistently (missing with
