The UK has supported developing country negotiators (CASA) is on track to achieve its intended outcomes and impact. The results of this evaluation will inform the design of future UK support to developing country negotiators in international climate negotiations since 2012. This evaluation seeks to understand what change has happened as a result of this long-term support and whether or not the UK's current approach to negotiations support through the Climate Ambition Support Alliance

Deliverables include:

An assessment of the impact of the UK's long-term support to developing country negotiators (from 2012 – present), including outlining barriers and enablers to impact, and unintended consequences (if any).

Value for money assessment and gap analysis of the design and delivery of the UK's current support to developing country negotiators through the Climate Ambition Support Alliance

A summary of lessons learnt, to inform future support to developing country negotiators

An early market engagement session held on 24th January at 3.30pm, please email internationalclimateandenergy.procurement@beis.gov.uk to register interest.
