Description

We are currently looking for an LMS to position our Learning and Development offering in one robust system. We do not have an LMS currently, and our induction and L and D offering comes from a number of sources and systems which is not engaging, or user friendly for colleagues. We want an LMS that is user friendly, can be mobile adaptive to support accessing from any location. An inclusive platform and learning content that supports learners who have additional needs. In addition, we are looking for varied learning content that is modern, relevant and interesting to learners.
