Description

This notice serves to inform the market of the award for a service contract to provide bibliometric data, including impact metrics, which are vital for the analytical activities undertaken by various teams within DSIT. These data underpin ongoing research across multiple sectors and assess the influence of DSIT's funding and investment programmes. Additionally, the information will be utilised for skills and workforce monitoring, specifically tracking the career paths of professionals in the UK's science and technology fields. The data is essential for contributing to Official Statistics and departmental publications, thereby supporting the department's core functions. And continuity of this data over time is an essential part of the outputs for publications.
