Other information

Description of risks to contract performance

Will negatively impact the operational use of mission critical control systems utilised within emergency vehicles. Also increased risk of harm to staff if vehicle is involved in RTC as a heavy mental bracket will have to be installed over the vehicle infotainment screen. This Opses system is required to integrate the mobile vehicle data system into the vehicle infotainment screen and remove requirement for legacy mobile data table, bracket and mount avoiding health and safety concerns where vehicles have three seats in the front.
