Description

There is an urgent need to transform Oxford Street into an exciting, thriving destination for Londoners and tourists alike - giving the nation's high street a new lease of life. To realise this vision, the Mayor of London has decided to establish the Oxford Street Development Corporation (OSDC). OSDC will operate as a Mayoral Development Corporation with full planning authority powers for Oxford Street and its immediate surroundings.

The Oxford Street Development Corporation (OSDC) will be responsible for the revitalisation of the area - including working with partners to deliver on the Mayor's ambitions to pedestrianise Oxford Street (subject to consultation), deliver exceptional public realm, host events, and ensure an exciting mix of businesses and activities on the street. Stakeholder collaboration will be critical, and success will depend on developing and maintaining strong relationships with landowners, retail, hospitality and leisure businesses, local authorities (Westminster and Camden), and the wider business community.

The Greater London Authority wishes to appoint a supplier to create an externally facing brand (to include a logo), digital assets and website design for the Oxford Street Development Corporation.
