Description

The current Hampshire Disabilities Day Opportunities Model (HDDOM) was developed by Hampshire County Council to address growing and evolving needs in adult social care, particularly for people with disabilities and adults who required structured daytime support. It was also developed to better safeguard, contract manage and review finances. The service has entered its final extension period and is required to be retendered to ensure Hampshire may meet the needs of its eligible residents.

The new framework will be an evolution from HDDOM and will be named Hampshire Day Opportunities Framework (HDOF) and will be aligned with the Care Act 2014, aiming to meet eligible care needs by offering meaningful daytime activities that promote wellbeing, independence, and social inclusion.

HDOF will be designed to provide daytime activities and support for adults with learning disabilities, physical disabilities, older adults and people with mental health needs. The model includes:

- Traditional day care centres
- Vocational training
- Community-based services
- Specialist services for complex needs

The need for these service exists because of the following factors:

Support for Independent Living:

- Offers structured environments that promote independence, skill-building, and social engagement.
- Some individuals with disabilities or age-related conditions cannot safely remain at home alone during the day.

Carer Respite:

- Provides respite for family carers, especially older carers or those who need to work during the day

Preventative Care:

- By offering meaningful daytime activities, it will help to prevent deterioration in mental and physical health, reducing the need for more intensive interventions later.
- Users report high satisfaction, with many describing the services as enjoyable and beneficial to their wellbeing.
- The service also aims to support the Public Health agenda through a range of educational and occupational activity.

Engagement process description

Hampshire County Council is inviting providers to attend an online market engagement event via Microsoft Teams to discuss the proposed development of a Day Opportunities Service framework.

The current Hampshire Disabilities Day Opportunities Model (HDDOM) was developed by Hampshire County Council to address growing and evolving needs in adult social care, particularly for people with disabilities and adults who required structured daytime support. It was also developed to better safeguard, contract manage and review finances. The service has entered its final extension period and is required to be retendered to ensure Hampshire may meet the needs of its eligible residents.

The new framework will be an evolution from HDDOM and will be named Hampshire Day Opportunities Framework (HDOF) and will be aligned with the Care Act 2014, aiming to meet eligible care needs by offering meaningful daytime activities that promote wellbeing, independence, and social inclusion.

HDOF will be designed to provide daytime activities and support for adults with learning disabilities, physical disabilities, older adults and people with mental health needs. The model includes:

- Traditional day care centres
- Vocational training
- Community-based services
- Specialist services for complex needs

The need for these service exists because of the following factors:

Support for Independent Living:

- Offers structured environments that promote independence, skill-building, and social engagement.
- Some individuals with disabilities or age-related conditions cannot safely remain at home alone during the day.

Carer Respite:

- Provides respite for family carers, especially older carers or those who need to work during the day

Preventative Care:

- By offering meaningful daytime activities, it will help to prevent deterioration in mental and physical health, reducing the need for more intensive interventions later.
- Users report high satisfaction, with many describing the services as enjoyable and beneficial to their wellbeing.
- The service also aims to support the Public Health agenda through a range of educational and occupational activity.

The call-offs made from this framework will be named Day Services Call-Off. These call-offs will aim to give greater clarity of service selection based on criteria which may include price, locality, staffing arrangements and opening hours.

Purpose of the Event:

The session will outline our early thinking around day opportunity services and provide an opportunity for providers to share their views and help shape future plans.
