Description

Yo! The programme sits within the broader Yo! Wolves young opportunities offer and is designed to increase regular physical activity, improve health outcomes, and reduce inequalities by placing provision in accessible community settings and WV Active sites.

The primary objective of Yo! Active is to increase activity levels among children and young people while building skills, confidence, and social connections; the programme also aims to develop leadership and peer?mentoring pathways so participants can progress into volunteer, youth?worker or youth?advisory roles. Part A: WV Active delivery - children and young people are able to access WV Active sites for swimming, court hire, youth gym and astro-turf hire for free.

Part B: Community based physical activity sessions - sessions are delivered across the week and the city to support children who are less likely to be active to move more. Activities include, skateboarding, snooker, netball, glow sports, nerf club, dance.

This opportunity is for Part B of the Yo! Active offer. This includes:

- Activity focused on children and young people who are fairly active and less active, (defined by Sport England).
- At least 20 hours of free physical activity per week.
- Activity is to be delivered all year round, including weekends and bank holiday delivery will be negotiated with provider.
- 15% of delivery for under 5's
- 15% of delivery for children and young people with special educational needs and/ or disabilities
- Delivery of a Yo! Active leadership and peer mentor programme and advisory panel.
- Evaluation and monitoring of the scheme.

Review Procedure

Precise information on deadline(s) for review procedures

The standstill period requirements, including for the reviewing of decisions, are detailed in Regulations 12 and 14(3). Provision for independent expert advice is set out in Regulation 23.

Providers may make a representation to the relevant authority within the first eight working days following the start of the standstill period (ie eight working days starting with the first working day following the day after the intention to award notice has been published).

Providers cannot submit a representation after that period, even if the standstill period has been extended in response to a representation from another provider.

Relevant authorities are only obliged to respond to representations that meet all the following conditions:

The representation comes from a provider that might otherwise have been a provider of the services to which the contract relates,

The provider is aggrieved by the decision of the relevant authority,

The provider believes that the relevant authority has failed to apply the regime correctly and is able to set out reasonable grounds to support its belief the representation is submitted in writing (which includes electronically) to the relevant authority within eight working days of the start of the standstill period.

If a provider remains unsatisfied about the response given by a relevant authority to their representations, then that provider may seek the involvement of the Independent Patient Choice and Procurement Panel.

If a provider wishes to request the panel to consider their representation further, then they must submit their request through the Council's e-tendering portal (www.wolverhamptontenders.com) within five working days of receiving the relevant authority's decision following the relevant authority's review of their representation.
