Scope

Reference

CAV-DIR (25-26) 134

Description

To ensure uninterrupted availability, these kits are managed through the Helix cabinet reordering system—an automated inventory solution that monitors stock levels and facilitates real-time replenishment. This system helps prevent delays or disruptions to clinical operations. The Promega kits are uniquely validated for use with the Maxwell RSC instruments currently deployed across AWMGS laboratories. This validation guarantees that the kits meet the rigorous performance and quality standards required for clinical diagnostics. Due to this specific compatibility, no alternative supplier can provide products that meet the same technical and regulatory specifications. This exclusivity forms the basis of the procurement decision, ensuring continuity of service and compliance with clinical standards. By continuing to source these validated kits, AWMGS safeguards the accuracy, reliability, and regulatory compliance of its genomic testing services—supporting timely and effective patient care.
