Scope

Description

The Barbican Immersive team requires an audio-visual hardware (AVHW) supplier and integrator.

The scope of works includes AVHW equipment hire, physical installation and programming for a solo exhibition of film work by Liam Young. The exhibition incorporates LED Wall, large scale projection, professional display monitors and a sophisticated audio system to deliver the exhibition soundscape.

The supplier will also provide a show control system that will be simple to operate for Barbican in house staff to use throughout the show-run – the intention is for a non-technical member of staff to be able to pause/start and mute the experience at will. The show control will also have a timer function to turn the exhibition on/off in sync with the opening hours of the exhibition.
