Description

The newly constructed Hub building is East Lindsey District Council's Headquarters site along with a local Campus for Boston College located in Horncastle, Lincolnshire. The building already has a relatively small-scale Solar PV system (26kW) incorporated within the roof plant top area of the building, the ambition of this project seeks to significantly increase its own renewable electricity generation production capacity on the site utilising sterile, partially undevelopable land fronting Mareham Road along with innovative solar PV car port and ground mounted structures sited within the southern car parking area of the site.
