Scope

Description

The University of Greenwich is looking to procure Occupational Health Services (OHS) for both staff and students. The successful supplier/s will be required to deliver a cost service that maximises value for money through the delivery of a timely, effective, up-to-date and quality service to both staff and students. There is a requirement for sufficient flexibility in the approach and delivery of the service to accommodate the organisational structures, operating style, culture and staff/student roles.
