Description

Haringey Council's Public Health team commissions drug and alcohol rehabilitation programmes. As part of these recovery services, Time Credits play a valuable role in supporting co-production.

The Time Credits model works simply: people earn Time Credits for time contributed to their community or service. These Time Credits can then be spent on accessing activity donated by partners across a national network, such as local attractions, training. Time Credits build local connections by joining up the public, private and voluntary sectors in a community. Individuals earn Time Credits through a network of local organisations, charities and services that are signed up. The provider also recruits a spend partnership with the public, private and voluntary sectors that enable people to access a wide range of positive activities with their Time Credits.
