Provider Selection Regime (PSR)

Decision to carry out a Competitive Process and award a contract using the framework provider direct award facility

ESNEFT2738 - Breast Clinic PSR Insourcing

II.2.14) Additional information

As of the 1st January 2024 the selection process to identify and award contracts to Providers of healthcare services has been removed from the Public Contract Regulations 2015 and are now part of the new Provider Selection Regime (PSR). This report is to seek approval to award a contract under the PSR procedures. The PSR process provides greater flexibility than the traditional procurement procedures through a number of routes to award contracts. These include Direct Awards (under specific circumstances), Most Capable Provider, and Competition. Whilst the PSR process provides greater flexibility, ESNEFT's default starting position for the selection of a Provider and award of contracts under PSR is competition and Value for Money. The DMT confirm that they have completed the PSR decision making toolkit for making a PSR contract award using the competitive process. A copy of this will be made available for the commercial folder.

Section VI. Complementary information

VI.3) Additional information

Confirmation of intention to award a contract under a PSR competitive process
 East Suffolk and North Essex NHS Foundation Trust have identified a requirement to award a contracting for insourcing breast care and breast screening services
 In line with the Provider Selection Regime 2023, the Trust has identified that the contract award must follow a competitive process

The East of England framework RM6276 allows for a direct award to be made as a competitive process, by nature of the framework itself

East Suffolk and North Essex NHS Foundation Trust therefore intend to make a direct award against framework RM6276 to secure an appropriate breast services insourcing provider
