Description

Maintenance of Optis™ Integrated System & Optis™ Ilumien Mobile System (Radiology equipment) located in the Cardiology Path at Glan Clwyd Hospital. The OPTIS Imaging System is intended for the imaging of coronary arteries and is indicated in patients who are candidates for transluminal interventional procedures. It allows physicians to use coronary optical coherence tomography (OCT) and coronary physiology for PCI—for improved decision-making. The OPTIS integrated system provides pinpoint accuracy in OCT-guided PCI, synchronizing highly detailed OCT images with angiography to determine and mark you precise location within the coronary anatomy.
